

A. The Execution of Kurt Steiner

text: Neil Chapman

sound: Carl Lindh, Ola Ståhl

( A ) The Execution of Kurt Steiner

--- Neil Chapman

scene 02            A part of the day is lost, or if not, then an odd time is made to inhere in it during which you are hypnotised by the dripping tap. It's not so much the measure of seconds that's significant – instead the sense of time rid of its layering. While you listen the sediment of background work, as well as those things you're conscious of working, on are pushed away. You are gripped by the impression that in the sound there is a note. The dripping can be heard as the plain sound of water, but the sound has a tendency. It seems to aspires. In the chaos of shattered frequencies something is trying to come together – failing but with each new drip trying again.

A. THE EXECUTION OF KURT STEINER /
B. YOU'RE DOING SOME DANGEROUS WORK, KURT STEINER
Neil Chapman, Ola Ståhl & Carl Lindh

©2011 IN EDIT MODE PRESS, the authors and copyright holders. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews.

ISBN 978-91-977853-3-4

I N E D I T M O D E
P R E S S

Ystadvägen 13, 21430 Malmö, Sweden
www.ineditmode.com, editors@ineditmode.com

Thanks to Mats Lindh, Josef Lindh and Magnus Thierfelder.