

A. The Execution of Kurt Steiner

text: Neil Chapman

sound: Carl Lindh, Ola Ståhl

(A) The Execution of Kurt Steiner

--- Neil Chapman

scene 03 Find a footing on the rails; prepare to address the one whose closer company you crave... Two tunnels are separated by a division of stone and brick that allows sound to pass, that filters sound. In the second tunnel a diminished echo from the first can be heard, but altered on account of the way that the wall absorbs some frequencies and transmits others. As the freight carrier comes, its thundering approach seems to cast before it a narrow and penetrating composition. You drift into a reverie, only to be brought back by the rattle of things nearby, fixings drawn into the composition so to speak, things that form the infrastructure in the tunnel aiding freight in its transit. A portion of the tunnel is flood-lit, bulbs behind steel grills illuminate steam, water dripping with a hiss and a steady drip, drip, onto their heated casings.

A. THE EXECUTION OF KURT STEINER /
B. YOU'RE DOING SOME DANGEROUS WORK, KURT STEINER
Neil Chapman, Ola Ståhl & Carl Lindh

©2011 IN EDIT MODE PRESS, the authors and copyright holders. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles and reviews.

ISBN 978-91-977853-3-4

I N E D I T M O D E
P R E S S

Ystadvägen 13, 21430 Malmö, Sweden
www.ineditmode.com, editors@ineditmode.com

Thanks to Mats Lindh, Josef Lindh and Magnus Thierfelder.